

Hello everyone

First item is the tower/hard drive in the office. It was recovered after many days under salt water and exposed. It was taken to an IT tech that looked at it and said it was too corroded to recover any data. So please be patient when it comes to historical data. If someone has questions, they may try Sandcastle for that data..

License Plates. Yesterday was 1st day back on the island and many license plates were recovered. I do not know the owner of each plate, so here is the list of what we have. All of the following are Florida license plates

Y57 WEI
60C BWC
QMI U73
Z77 2KX
347 RMW
LKK I 18
35A HDV

Other

Indiana AXS395
Minnesota 2GU200
Ohio JJC 8637
Ohio DKQ 4571
Wisconsin AKZ 3662
Wisconsin 137-VRN
Illinois 10978
Illinois X25 7611

Please identify your plate so it can be labeled and set aside for you.

Next item is stacks 1 & 2. As you may know, the roofs for stacks 1 & 2 were severely damaged during the hurricane. No vendors have been able to gain access and do work until a structural engineer has completed his inspection. The inspection will happen Tuesday or Wednesday of this week and hopefully give us clearance to do some work. Unfortunately, it rained pretty hard last night on the island. I do not know at this time if any additional damage was done to those 2 stacks. ServPro was looking at them today for a second time. I am hoping to get some kind of a report tomorrow when I am back on the island.

Next item - Refrigerators I was told that if you had meat or fish in your freezer section, it could destroy the entire refrigerator. A suggestion is do not even open the refrigerator door. Duct tape it and throw it away. Your call as what you would like to do.

A new computer desktop and laptop has been ordered today, so we may take another step of the rebuild.

That is it for now; tomorrow is another day. Thank you to everyone that has offered their service and support.
